

ABSTRACT

Disclosed is a packaged pet food product that includes one or more solid food components in a sauce or gel, wherein said solid food components are placed separately in a package having a single cavity for receiving pet food material, and wherein said solid food components are maintained in visually discrete groups within said cavity.